

Eisenhower To Enlist Taft As Campaign Teammate

'Honesty In Government' Big Issue

CHICAGO (INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Friday he is going to try to enlist Sen. Robert A. Taft on his "team" as an active participant in the campaign for a Republican victory in November.

The GOP presidential candidate made the statement at a meeting with Midwest Republican leaders at which he expressed confidence that the party will succeed in ousting the Democrats from office if it concentrates its campaign attack on honesty in government.

Ike said that plans are under way for a meeting between him and Taft at an early date although the exact time has not yet been set.

Major Issues

Speaking with the confidence of a seasoned political campaigner, Eisenhower told the party bigwigs from Illinois, Indiana and Michigan what he considers the major issues in the campaign.

He said his recent swing through the South convinced him that "honesty in government" is the question in which people are most interested.

He told the party officials who will lead his campaign in the three-state area that peace over-shadows all other problems facing the nation and that he found "a very deep resentment of the Korean War" among voters.

The former Opal B. Anthony, she was born in Wilber. Mrs. Hughes came to Lincoln in 1941 from Auburn where she was a member of the Christian Church. She was also a member of the Royal Neighbors.

Survivors are her husband; a daughter, Miss Alice Hughes, Lincoln; three sons, Warren Shank, Denver and Francis and Phillip Hughes, both of Lincoln; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Hannaford, Auburn, and Mrs. Guy Simmons, Denver; a brother, Raymond Anthony, Lincoln, and five grandchildren.

Restitution Sought

The United States filed a petition in Federal Court Friday asking a judgment of $254.28 from Verle A. Johnson of Weeping Water.

The petition claims that the judgment represents payments made to Johnson's insurance company by the government under the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Act of 1940. Johnson was to have made restitution but the petition charges that he has failed to do so.

Nebraska Politics

OMAHA (INS)—Politics and politicians will be plentiful in Nebraska in the next few weeks. Republican Senator William Knowland of California will address the Douglas County Young Republicans in Omaha Saturday. The Young GOP's also will hear talks by Gov. Val Peterson and Nebraska Senators Fred Seaton and Hugh Butler.

Monday night, GOP vice-presidential candidate Richard Nixon will address the state Republican post-primary convention in Kearney, Neb.

Republican presidential candidate Dwight Eisenhower will make a major address in the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum in Omaha, Sept. 18. The following day, Ike will make brief appearances at Plattsmouth, Nebraska City and Falls City, Neb.

10-State Tour

Democratic vice-presidential candidate John Sparkman will be in Lincoln, Sept. 23, during an 18-day, 10-state campaign tour.

On Sept. 26, Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois will speak in Omaha at the annual convention of the Nebraska Small Business Men's Association.

Released On Bond

Budge Sorter was released from County Jail Friday after posting a $300 appeal bond before Judge Herbert A. Ronin.

Charged with a third offense of petit larceny, Sorter is accused of stealing a steel plate worth approximately $25 from Ted Hikes.

REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Case (R-SD) said Friday night that Gov. Stevenson in his Denver speech "falsely charged that the Republicans are casting disrepute upon government workers."

Resents 'Blame'

The senator declared: "Any disrepute that may have fallen on the federal service has been caused by public exposure of corruption in the Truman administration. . . I resent this attempt to cast blame where it does not belong. It is a shoddy attempt to get votes."

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated Friday he would be willing to name a Negro to the Cabinet if he could find one with "merit" and "the qualifications needed to serve the United States well."

A Search For Merit

Edgar G. Brown, a Republican candidate for Congress from the First Illinois District, posed the question of the appointment of a competent "upstanding Negro" to the Cabinet in the event Eisenhower becomes President. Brown himself is a Negro.

This was the answer: "With respect to the appointment of a Negro to any place, I would say this: I will search for merit wherever it is."

DEMOCRATS

DENVER (INS)—The "Volunteers for Stevenson" organization Friday named Roger L. Stevens, Detroit and New York realtor who recently organized the multi-million-dollar Empire State Building sale to head its finance committee.

Finance Director

Appointment of the Empire State Building executive committee chairman was announced at Denver by Herman D. Smith and Mrs. Edison Dick, national co-chairmen of the independent group supporting Stevenson for president on the Democratic ticket.

Smith and Mrs. Dick accompanied the Illinois governor when he flew to Denver Friday morning on the first leg of his major campaign swing through the West.

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia said Friday he will "just vote" for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket and confine his campaign speaking to support of senatorial friends running in the west.

The 74-year-old veteran Democrat, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, predicted that Gov. Adlai Stevenson will carry Georgia. But he said the acclaim showered on Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in Dixie this week indicates the GOP nominee will get a "large vote" in his state, perhaps the largest ever accorded a Republican.

At the same time, Vice President Barkley announced at his home in Paducah, Ky., that he will stump the nation for Stevenson and Sparkman. He will begin planning the itinerary for his speeches next week.

DENVER (INS)—Stevenson heard "enthusiastic" reports of Democratic prospects in the 11 western states at a luncheon sponsored by the party's Western State's Conference.

Western Reports

State chairmen of each of the states delivered a private report to the presidential nominee at the closed-door session.

Among those who attended the luncheon were Democratic Senators Johnson of Colorado, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, and Magnuson of Washington.

Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, also attended the luncheon and reported to the group on plans of his organization in Stevenson's race against Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Matters Of Great Importance

The election of "Ike" is the most important business in the world, Gov. Val Peterson told newsmen in disclosing that he had loaned his administrative assistant, Mrs. Marie Krumwiede, to Eisenhower headquarters for the duration of the "war." Mrs. Krumwiede will not draw a salary from the state during her absence.

We can understand fully how deeply the governor feels in this matter of Eisenhower's election. It is important, terribly important, to him. He was one of Ike's first boosters. He was out on the limb early beating the drums. He is a dyed-in-the-wool Eisenhower fan, no Johnny-Come-Lately.

Whether Ike's election is the most important business in the world is something upon which people might disagree. Even Val himself may have considered one little thing more important a few months ago. We are quite sure that throughout February and March, the unfinished business of defeating Sen. Hugh Butler for the Republican nomination for the Senate seat Mr. Butler has occupied and for which he was renominated was of more than passing importance in Gov. Peterson's book.

Mrs. Krumwiede, capable, efficient, attractive woman, will be attached to Eisenhower headquarters while the governor, short-handed without the help of an administrative assistant, will labor with the affairs of state when he isn't making speeches for the Republican national ticket hither and yon. It appears also that Secretary of State Jim Pittenger may join the Eisenhower entourage. We wish them well. Their new assignments suggest that the state of Nebraska temporarily can get along without two employees.

There are those, however, old-fashioned enough to believe there are a few things in this state which are important, possibly not the most important in the world, but still important.

Happy Decision?

It appears that the Nebraska municipalities, headed by Dave Erickson who runs Lincoln's municipal light plant, and who claims he is being discriminated against in the wholesale purchase of electricity from the Nebraska Public Power System, have decided to take their troubles to court.

If so, that is a most happy decision. From the very beginning, if Mr. Erickson felt the Nebraska Public Power System was discriminating against him, he should have sought his legal remedies. The law specifically provides that the directors, who are chosen by public election, shall not discriminate in the rates charged for electricity sold wholesale. That does not mean that a handful of communities buying 8 per cent of the total output of the system necessarily will purchase current as cheaply as others buying much larger amounts and at the same time underwriting the financial obligations of the hydro. We venture to suggest that Mr. Erickson and his associates could get the same kind of a contract whenever and if they are willing to assume financial responsibility for the debts incurred in the development of this hydro system, debts which must be paid to retire the revenue bonds issued to construct these projects.

There does not need to be any hard feeling in this matter—ugly, nasty charges, an attitude which could array hundreds of towns in this state against the Nebraska capital. It can be a friendly suit, seeking a declaratory judgment as to whether the rate contract offered to Mr. Erickson and his associates is discriminatory or is fair. And when the court acts, then it will be settled. If Mr. Erickson is sustained, then the hydro will have no other recourse but to sell him electricity on the terms he thinks are equitable.

If the court should find that the contract offered to the city of Lincoln is not discriminatory but actually fair and equitable in the complicated field of rate-making, then that is that. It's not quite clear where Mr. Erickson would go from that point. Would he then ask the council to authorize the issuance of revenue bonds in the sum of three million dollars to expand the city light plant?

Perhaps, then, if Mr. Erickson simply can't get along with one group in the Nebraska public power program—the group which generates the electricity—the sensible thing for the people of Lincoln to do would be to sell the city light plant to the Nebraska hydro. The people could take the money thus received, apply it to expansion of the city water plant or such other purposes as seem wise.

Bluffing The Great Bear

We have never attempted to bluff a bear, not even those friendly, companionable creatures which only a few weeks back lumbered lazily along the highway of a certain national park, now and then got in the way of the automobile in which we were riding.

There are people, it seems, who believe that all you have to do is show your teeth to a bear and it will turn tail and take to its heels. One of them is John Foster Dulles, a distinguished American, who in unselfish spirit has performed many valuable missions for this country in the international field. Just now at the slightest opportunity Mr. Dulles suggests that the government of the United States should prod the Russian bear a bit. He may be right. We wouldn't know. We do not pretend to know. All we do know is that whenever you begin to prod a bear, it is not without the realm of possibility that the beast will turn on you. And if that happens, you had better be ready to kill the bear or the bear may kill you.

The cry today, first from Dulles; and, then from Mr. Dulles' good friend, Gov. Tom Dewey, is for the election of a man who will strike fear in Stalin's heart. It sounds good; most of us desire nothing more than to reduce Joe Stalin to a sniveling, whining, white-livered, quaking dictator. But we just haven't the slightest idea whether Stalin's knees are given to quaking, whether his teeth chatter, whether his hair stands on end—in short, whether he's a guy easily bluffed or easily frightened. Historically there is nothing to substantiate the Dulles theory. The Crimean war and all of the wars since establish that Russia simply does not scare. Napoleon found that out; Britain tested it and the Germans twice tried it.

In all of this talk which is a part of a presidential campaign, there is one development which must invite thought from thoughtful people. We've been all wrong, terribly terribly wrong so we are told, to substitute negotiations or words for action in our dealings with Russia. We should have gotten tough. We should give Russia to understand that this monkey business has gone about as long as our patience will permit it and unless Russia sees the error of her ways, we'll knock her block off. We should talk tough and be tough—and by talking tough and being tough, we are certain to find the road to peace. Maybe! Others have tried it and invariably others have ended up in war.

There is one phase of this present discussion of American foreign policy that is particularly distressing. Undoubtedly in some of these countries back of the Iron Curtain, there are substantial minorities who gladly would sacrifice their lives to be free. Possibly those who would throw off the Russian yoke are not a minority but a majority. They are, of course, not equipped to fight, possibly not trained to fight to free themselves from the oppressor. They live within a short distance of the Great Bear's legs—the tough armies of Russia—trained in modern warfare and equipped for modern warfare. It would be a tragedy if these peoples back of the Iron Curtain should be led to believe that in the event they rebel against Russia, the United States is going to send millions of American boys abroad to aid them at this time in their fight against Russia.

In calling for a more aggressive foreign policy, Mr. Dulles may not mean to imply anything of this kind. If he does, then he should be informed now in unmistakable terms that as much as America's heart goes out to these captive peoples, there is not the slightest intention here to send huge military forces to aid them in their rebellion. Mr. Dulles ought to know that the American people overwhelmingly reject any such proposal—and also reject anything that might produce a situation of this kind.

Nor are the people of this country who reject that deserving of the name of appeasers. They, no less than others calling for a tough policy, hope and pray for the day when Russia will be forced back into her own boundaries. That day will come just as surely as the sun rises in the east. Back of that Iron Curtain are peoples who every month are becoming more and more impressed with the brutality of their betrayal to Communism. But we repeat. Even the heat of a presidential campaign does not justify creating a hope within the breasts of millions of people that all they have to do to obtain freedom is to stiffen their courage and rebel. This country, loving freedom as it does, its heart beating for humanity, nevertheless is not going to sacrifice hundreds of thousands of American lives to drive Russia back to her own borders at this time in a program which has America's staunchest friends in the United Nations jumpy, nervous.

Taft Plans To Dictate Terms To Eisenhower

WASHINGTON — Sen. Taft—"Mr. Conservative"—to Republican regulars—will dictate his own terms to Eisenhower when he sits down with the general in the long-awaited campaign huddle next week. In fact, Taft has already sent word in blunt language that he'll work for the man who beat him at Chicago only if he is given plenty of swinging room to wage his own type of "fighting campaign."

Here is the inside story of what has happened between Taft and the Eisenhower forces in trying to get the two men together. Taft still has a sour taste in his mouth as a result of Chicago, where he not only was beaten for the nomination but also was spurned for the vice presidency. As a result, he has been in no hurry to come to Ike's aid; in fact, even turned down a request to meet Ike a week ahead of schedule in Cleveland.

What happened at Chicago never leaked out at the time, but the Ohio senator sent word that he was available for the vice-presidential nomination. This brought no enthusiasm from the Eisenhower camp. They were afraid the headstrong Taft, as the tail of the GOP ticket, might try to wag the dog.

So the answer was sent back to Taft as politely as possible that it was no soap. However, the Ohio senator then got on the telephone to the man at Ike's elbow, Taft's old friend, Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, and asked him to consider another Taft man for vice president—Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois.

Accordingly, and as an act of good faith, Carlson tossed Dirksen's name into the ring at a backstage meeting of Eisenhower strategists just after Ike was nominated at Chicago. But Tom Dewey, still smarting from Dirksen's withering attack on the convention, said no. Twice, therefore, Taft was rebuffed. And he left the convention disappointed and disgruntled.

After Arthur Summerfield was installed as Republican national chairman, he became largely preoccupied with restoring diplomatic relations with the Taft forces. Summerfield is an old Taft supporter, is close to Tom Coleman, leader of the Sen. McCarthy forces in Wisconsin, and has taken the lead in patching up Ike's fences with the isolationist wing of the GOP.

When the lines between Taft and Eisenhower camp first started buzzing, the Ohioan let it be known he would campaign for the ticket on his own terms. Summerfield thereupon persuaded Ike's inner circle to meet Taft's conditions—namely, give him a free hand. Accordingly he was invited to sit down with Eisenhower and map campaign strategy. Replying from Murray Bay, Canada, Taft wired that he would meet the general any time after Sept. 8 in Washington.

But just as everything appeared to be patched up between Taft and Eisenhower, the chief of Ike's strategy board, New Hampshire's Gov. Sherman Adams, dropped word to the press that the two convention rivals were going to get together.

In Step With The Sower

RANCHOS DE TAOS, N. M.—From a commonplace albeit interesting trip to the blue Pacific, the Sower in returning has encountered mysteries climaxed by a visit to St. Francis of Assisi church here.

In a transept of the church hangs a painting in 1945, entitled "The Shadow of the Cross," painted in 1896 by an obscure Canadian artist, and first shown at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. Later for many years it was exhibited in Europe.

The painting has excited the interest of scientists, philosophers, tourists, Pueblo Indians and Penitents. "Skeptics and tourists," Fr. Paul V. Hatch told the Sower, "are responsible for chipping of the paint noticeable in daylight."

What makes this painting so unusual is the fact that, while in daylight its portraits on a shore in Galilee the barefoot Christ, in darkness the portrait becomes luminous, outlining the figure and the clouds form into a cross over the left shoulder of Jesus.

The glow shading from light blue to green has a quality of light that suggests moonlight. It is not a constant light; varying in brightness and appearing to be at its brightest at midnight.

Father Hatch offers no explanation but says many visitors jump to the conclusion that luminous paint was used, although it was painted by Henri Auit two years before the Curies announced the discovery of radium.

The grey haired padre told the Sower, who is not an art critic, that the many artists in the colony at Taos, three miles away, say the painting is not good art because "it is not all cubes and angles" but to a mere newspaper scrivener it is beautiful and lifelike.

"No theory has ever been put forward which gave an intelligent reason for the results," wrote Frederick L. Rawson, British metaphysician, and more recent chemical tests have added nothing in explanation of the weird glow in the night.

The mission church itself has a fascinating history. At the beginning of the 18th century,

This threw the Taft forces into an uproar. In the first place, Taft did not want a premature announcement. And of all people to make the announcement, Adams was the worst. For Taft has nursed a grudge against Adams for whispering in Chicago that Taft was the man "Stalin wanted for President."

The Taft backfire was followed by an outburst of criticism against Eisenhower for his slow and easy campaign start. The criticism got so hot that Ike's closest adviser and political diplomat, Sen. Carlson, personally telephoned Taft in Canada, asking him to meet Ike a week ahead of schedule. The general would come to Taft's home ground, Cleveland, Carlson promised.

Taft replied that his invalid wife needed the rest, and he could not cut his vacation short. Eisenhower would have to wait until they got back to Washington. Taft promised, however, to campaign vigorously for the Republican ticket.

LABOR LEADERS' PEEVE

Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson may not know it but the nation's two top labor bosses are peeved over George Harrison's appointment as chairman of the labor committee for Stevenson.

Both AFL chief Bill Green and CIO head Phil Murray have been irked at Harrison ever since he participated in the Blackstone Hotel breakfast at which labor leaders told Vice President Barkley he was too old to run for President.

Harrison, whose Brotherhood of Railway Clerks comes under the AFL, was present when a handful of labor leaders told Barkley to support him on account of his age. This brought tears to the eyes of the 74-year-old Veep and caused him sadly to withdraw from the race.

Inside story is that Harrison neglected to clear this pronouncement with either of the two top labor leaders. Both Green and Murray considered it a below-the-belt blow at Barkley, who has always been a friend of labor. The age issue also didn't sit well with Green who, at 79, is five years older than Barkley.

GERMAN COMPETITION

German industry has staged such a comeback that it is now pushing U. S. goods out of Latin America.

Recently both U. S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel bid on a new bridge over the Guayas River in Ecuador—a major construction job.

However—though they don't know it yet—the two big American firms are going to be left out in the cold, with the contract going to the Ferrostaal Co. of Hamburg, reorganized less than four years ago following 85 per cent destruction of its plants and offices by wartime bombardment.

Bethlehem Steel offered to build the bridge linking Guayaquil with the terminus of the railroad from 9,300-foot-high Quito, for almost $5,200,000. But the German firm underbid that figure by almost 30 per cent. U. S. Steel bid was the highest of all.

Jefferson Quotes

Greenwood, S. C.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A great American said the following:

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest danger to be feared."

"To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers lead us with perpetual debt. We must make our choice between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude."

"If we run into debt, we must be faced by our debt and drink in our necessities and in our comforts in our labors and in our amusements. If we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

It was Thomas Jefferson who founded the Democratic party who gave you and me the advice written above, and which has never been improved by men who came after him. In fact, those who tried to change his advice have all been proven wrong.

Which Pays Better?

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Arent the hassle about vesicular exanthema and the Legislature's handout:

First it was 5,000 hogs and 9 or 10 owners and $50,000—and then those hogs sure grew. Now it is 14 owners and 10,600 hogs and 200 G's. That is fast fattenin' and it seems all this resulted from a sideline incidental to the prime business of garbage collecting. Well, 200 G's is some lettuce and if garbage, how do I get in on the operation? And what about the other 300 to 400 operators mentioned by Sen. Liebers?

We have a polio epidemic of unprecedented proportions raging. Someone goes down with it, loses time and pay and then on recovery finds he can't meet payments on his home. The sheriff marches in and confiscates it, but the Legislature doesn't offer him any green comfort. To help him would be Socialism. But hogs are different creatures!

Records show that it was pretty definitely known that vesicular exanthema comes from feeding hogs raw garbage. Evidently this has been known for some time but the feeding just went on. Mayor Cunningham of Omaha is quoted as saying, "We know Omaha is out of bounds," according to Sen. Liebers, but permitted the feeding to continue.

Maybe the corn-fed hogs would like to know about the March of Dimes. Ten cents a head is cheap insurance. Perhaps we should adopt a new coat-of-arms, 10,000 hogs rampant on a field of raw garbage under a green canopy of 200 one-thousand-dollar bills, imposed on a shield of 28 grasping hands, supported on a taxpayer's shoulder with the motto: "Cour-

"Adios, see you in Taos," as Kit Carson and his fellows used to cry all the way from the meandering Platte River to south of the border.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Trust And Obey

When we walk with the Lord in the light of His Word
What a glory He sheds on our way!
While we do His good will, He abides with us still,
And with all who will trust and obey.

Not a shadow can rise, Not a cloud in the skies,
But His smile quickly drives it away;
Not a doubt or a fear, Not a sigh nor a tear,
Can abide while we trust and obey.

But we never can prove the delights of His love
Until all on the altar we lay;
For the favor He shows, and the joy He bestows,
Are for them who will trust and obey.

Then in fellowship sweet we will sit at His feet,
Or we'll walk by His side in the way;
What He says we will do, where He sends we will go—
Never fear—only trust and obey.

By HORACE B. POWELL

One night, while Dr. Dwight L. Moody was holding one of his evangelistic meetings in Brockton, Mass., a youth arose toward the close of the service to give testimony. He had been much impressed by the evangelist's sermon and he said:

"I am not quite sure—but I am going to trust, and I am going to obey."

Prof. D. B. Towner, composer of many popular gospel tunes, had come to the meeting that night to sing for Dr. Moody. He took out a pencil and pad and made a record of the young convert's words. Later, he sent them with a letter describing the prayer service testimony to the Rev. J. H. Sammis, a Presbyterian minister-friend, who wrote the hymn and chorus which appear above. Prof. Towner himself supplied the hymn tune.

When Mr. Sammis sat down to write his hymn verses, the words trust and obey kept ringing through his mind and he wrote the chorus of the hymn before he began on the introductory stanzas. The new hymn-words and music proved very popular with revival crowds for years. It is still to be found in some hymnals, and in song books used by Sunday Schools and young people's church groups.

Are These Jobs Necessary

Denton, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have noted with interest your comments on our "absentee governor" in the past few months, and I have approved of those comments.

It is interesting to observe now that we apparently have an "absentee governor" presiding over an "absentee administration." It is amazing to see how many offices in the state house are unfilled because of failure to make proper appointments, failure to pay decent salaries, etc. I refer to the jobs of secretary to the Railway Commission, secretary to the Liquor Commission, Assistant Secretary of State, secretary to the governor and administrative aide to the governor.

It would seem that either these posts are not necessary to efficient government, since the government is functioning without having them filled—or the people are not being properly served with these posts vacant, after the appropriation has already been made to pay the salaries involved. In the first case, if the offices are not necessary, they should be abolished. If they are needed, if the budget should be spent as it has been appropriated, then the appointments should be made immediately and filled with the most capable men available.

Jefferson Quotes

Greenwood, S. C.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A great American said the following:

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues, and public debt as the greatest danger to be feared."

"To preserve our independence, we must not let our rulers lead us with perpetual debt. We must make our choice between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude."

"If we run into debt, we must be faced by our debt and drink in our necessities and in our comforts in our labors and in our amusements. If we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

It was Thomas Jefferson who founded the Democratic party who gave you and me the advice written above, and which has never been improved by men who came after him. In fact, those who tried to change his advice have all been proven wrong.

Which Pays Better?

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Arent the hassle about vesicular exanthema and the Legislature's handout:

First it was 5,000 hogs and 9 or 10 owners and $50,000—and then those hogs sure grew. Now it is 14 owners and 10,600 hogs and 200 G's. That is fast fattenin' and it seems all this resulted from a sideline incidental to the prime business of garbage collecting. Well, 200 G's is some lettuce and if garbage, how do I get in on the operation? And what about the other 300 to 400 operators mentioned by Sen. Liebers?

We have a polio epidemic of unprecedented proportions raging. Someone goes down with it, loses time and pay and then on recovery finds he can't meet payments on his home. The sheriff marches in and confiscates it, but the Legislature doesn't offer him any green comfort. To help him would be Socialism. But hogs are different creatures!

Records show that it was pretty definitely known that vesicular exanthema comes from feeding hogs raw garbage. Evidently this has been known for some time but the feeding just went on. Mayor Cunningham of Omaha is quoted as saying, "We know Omaha is out of bounds," according to Sen. Liebers, but permitted the feeding to continue.

Maybe the corn-fed hogs would like to know about the March of Dimes. Ten cents a head is cheap insurance. Perhaps we should adopt a new coat-of-arms, 10,000 hogs rampant on a field of raw garbage under a green canopy of 200 one-thousand-dollar bills, imposed on a shield of 28 grasping hands, supported on a taxpayer's shoulder with the motto: "Cour-

Moral: Don't get polio. Vesicular exanthema pays better!

Dulles' Prediction

Riverton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Dulles, agitating for the GOP, thinks that the Democratic party has made America's government totalitarian and that revolution, like charity, begins against our own totalitarians. He reminds us that "The people still have it in their power to check this (the Democratic party's power) but if we don't do it and do it soon, we will have to fight our way back . . . through revolution."

So if the Democrats win in November, look out for Dulles' prediction to come—a revolution between the "outs" and the "ins."

Seven Top 4-H Baby Beef Winners Sell For $4,191

Local Hotel Buys Steers For $62 Bid

The top 4-H livestock at the 1952 State Fair—seven purple ribbon steers—were sold Friday to the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln for a total of $4,191.38.

The seven winning-circle steers brought $62 a hundredweight in bidding which launched the annual auction of 4-H baby beef at the State Fairgrounds. The Cornhusker Hotel will temporarily present the best to the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture for student judging instruction.

The one purple ribbon heifer, owned and shown by Melvin Dinslage of West Point, was purchased by the Continental National Bank of Lincoln for $1 per pound. The Angus heifer, which weighed 1,009 pounds, will be given for use on the University of Nebraska football training table.

Other Amounts

The amounts of money paid other 4-Hers showing purple ribbon steers were:

$530 to Gloria Timmons of Valley for her 85-pound Angus.
$649 to Paul Yeutter of Eustis for his 1,047 pound Angus, and $511 for his 825-pound Hereford.
$500 to JoAnn Snell of Lincoln for her 934-pound Hereford, and $495 for another 97-pound Hereford.
$552 to Judy Munn of Lincoln for her 940-pound Hereford.
$724 to Melvin Todd of Union for his 1,168-pound Hereford.

The amount paid this year at the 4-H auction was less than the record of $1,600 paid by Gold and Company of Lincoln in 1945. Sale officials commented that the prices this year ran close to the trend set in recent years.

Gold and Company of Lincoln lost out in bidding for the top seven steers but later entered the winning bids on more than 20 other steers and heifers.

In the larger blue ribbon class the top Shorthorn steer was purchased by Regan, Regan and Hess, Omaha order buyers who also donated the prize purchase to the football team for eating purposes.

The next top Shorthorn steer was purchased by Miller & Paine of Lincoln for 41 cents per pound. The store also purchased a number of other ribbon-winning cattle at an average of $36 per hundredweight.

Most of the livestock entered by 4-Hers this year sold at an average of $34 per hundredweight with an average of two to three cents per pound higher being paid

BEF FOR FOOTBALLERS—This Angus 4-H beef was sold for use on the University football training table. Janice Larson, 15, (in picture) from Wolbach in Greeley County raised the animal. for Angus than for other beef breeds.

With the top purchases for show cattle out of the way the packinghouse representatives opened steady bidding for the majority of the beef with the level of prices remaining in the mid-thirties. Packinghouses represented on the purchase lists were: American Stores, Cudahy, Armour, Swift, Rath, Hebel, Rood of Fairbury and Wilson.

University Buys

Several head of the livestock were sold to the University of Nebraska for experimental purposes.

Making his purchase for the Havelock National Bank, Mayor Victor Anderson of Lincoln bought two white ribbon heifers for $33.75 and $34 per hundredweight.

Others who made purchases of the 485 head of baby beef were: National Bank of Commerce, Lincoln; Welman and Sons of Omaha, J. A. Huettler and Sons of Eustis, C. H. Westerhoff of Seward, Acme Plumbing of Lincoln, Blackstone Hotel of Omaha, Roger Larson of Lincoln, Elmer Solheim of Lincoln, Royal Cafe of Oakland and Therman Lockers of Lincoln.

Nice Quiet Week Coming Up

DON'T KNOW about you, but we're looking forward to next week—a nice quiet one, by the looks of things, but at least the town will be back in its normal routine. The normalcy, however, will disappear completely week-end after next for it is then that the football season descends upon the nation in magnificent fashion. The Lincoln Country club is planning the usual—dinner dances after the home games, and pre-game luncheons with buses from the club to the stadium and back again.

This is the first season for Richard Dunn, new manager of the University club, but apparently Mr. Dunn will follow the usual pattern—at least until he catches his breath—which means the pre-game buffet, and post-game dinners.

SPEAKING OF football plans—Added to those we already have had is a pre-game luncheon for which Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wake of Seward will be host and hostess on Saturday, September 20, the first game of the season.

LIFE GOES ON, however, between Fair week and the football season, and we find that the days are quite, quite busy. This week-end, for instance, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lentz and their three-weeks-old son, Michael Douglas, are the house guests of Mrs. Lentz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Brewster. And that brings to mind other news of the Lentz and Brewster families—Last Sunday, August 31, young Michael was christened, and to Desh-ler for the ceremony, which took place at the American Lutheran church, went Michael's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Brewster; his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Brewster of Omaha, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lentz of Beatrice. Officiating at the christening was Michael's great-grandfather, the Rev. Ludwig Lentz.

FRIDAY NIGHT, so someone told us, Mrs. Everett Angle left for Boston where she will attend the triennial meeting of the Woman's auxiliary of the Episcopal church. The two weeks conference closes just barely in time to allow Angle to be back in town for the first game. Accompanying Mrs. Angle was Mrs. E. F. Bechtold—and we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Mutz left a few days ago for Boston where

Mr. Mutz will attend a meeting of the Episcopal church.

THURSDAY EVENING found Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield on their way to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where Mr. Critchfield will attend a convention.

BACK HOME AGAIN are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reed who returned a day or two ago from a several week's trip down the west coast of South America—Mr. and Mrs. Reed spent some time in Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador.

OFF TO Auburn on Friday afternoon went Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zimmer, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zimmer Jr., and their family, who have gone to attend the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer's granddaughter, Patricia Engles, to Alvin John Riches which takes place today.

AND TO OMAHA today went

Mrs. Lee Stover and her two daughters, Kathy and Betsy. The day's excursion really should be credited to the small-fry since they will attend the birthday party of their seven-year-old cousin, Barbara Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ramsey.

BACK FROM Pelican Lake this week is Tom Harley, and we hear that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Burks Harley, will turn homeward late next week.

FOUND THAT there had been guests in town this week—Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kimmel of Phoenix, Ariz.—but they left on Wednesday to return to their home. During their stay in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Kimmel's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Donald T. Waggener.

MENTION OF Dr. Waggener reminds us that he leaves today for St. Louis where he will attend a dental meeting and also present a paper that has the fascinating title of "Intra-Oral Roentgenography."

—one of Lincoln's most talented beauty operators washes her blonde cocker with a professional beauty salon shampoo, then gives him a creme rinse. She claims "the best is none too good" for Monroe Murray II, more informally known around the household as "Sniffer."

—a nine-year-old asked his father over the dinner table the other evening, "Daddy, we're not millionaires, are we?" "No," emphatically replied father. "Then," queried the son, "are we 'thousandaires'?" "Son," father remarked, "you just better put us in the 'dollaraires' class!"

—I have the greatest feeling of kinship with the Philadelphia lady who wrote the Garden editor of one of the women's magazines saying, "What is the easiest and cheapest way NOT to have ANYTHING grow in my yard? I live alone. I'm busy. I'm harassed by high grass, bushes, and so on. I go away; come back; find things growing again. I wish NOTHING to grow!"

—a couple of South Lincoln fathers were considerably aghast when they learned that their teen-age sons had decided to speculate on margin in the grain market. With the $500.00 that they had saved over a period of years for a vacation fund the youngsters' financial fling might never have come to light had not the broker called the fathers for more margin money.

Marriage of Barbara Farmer, Francis Benedict, Solemnized

MRS. FRANCIS WARD BENEDICT

With woodwardia fern forming the background of greenery, the chancel of St. Paul Methodist church was appointed with tall-stemmed white gladioli, arranged in pedestal baskets, and lighted cathedral candles in seven-branched holders, for the wedding of Miss Barbara Mae Farmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne C. Farmer, and Francis Ward Benedict, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Benedict, which took place on Friday evening, September 5. Lighted candles, caught with sprays of greenery, also marked the white carpeted processional aisle.

Dr. Frank A. Court, minister of St. Paul Methodist, solemnized the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Houghton Furr, organist. Mr. Furr also accompanied Earl Jenkins who sang, "Because," and "Through the Years," preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer," at the close of the benediction.

A raspberry tone of lace and net was chosen for the bride's frocks of the attendants who were Mrs. John M. Whitlock, matron of honor; the bridesmaid trons, Mrs. Jack Sauder of Benedict, Mrs. Alan Farmer of Newport, R.I., and the bridesmaid, Miss Sue Phillips. The fitted bodices of Margot lace were bare-shouldered under brief lace capelets, and narrowed at minute points at the waists beneath which the floor-length skirts of net had extreme fullness. Frock-toned mitts and hair bandeaus of net completed their ensembles and they carried crescent bouquets of Burma gladioli florets accented with blossoms in a soft pink shade.

A Frank Benedict served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Harry A. Wendland, Alan Farmer of Newport, R.I.; John M. Whitlock and James B. Runyan.

The bride appeared in a gown of handcut lace and tulle over white satin. The smooth, molded bodice, with its back closing of minute satin buttons, was designed with a deep illusion yoke which was contoured with natural scallops of lace and slipped into long, lace sleeves. The lace was repeated in a delicate turn-over collar at the high throat line. The voluminous skirt was fashioned of tiers of tulle that extended into an aisle-wide train. Her veil of English illusion was fingertip length and was held to the head with a Juliet cap of imported lace dotted with seed pearls. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gladioli florets and stephanotis, centered with white orchids.

A reception for the three hundred and fifty wedding guests was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The refreshment table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake topped with a pink wedding bell and encircled with pink daisies.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to the Black Hills, for which Mrs. Benedict wore a navy costume suit with navy and white accessories, Mr. Benedict and his bride will reside at 4509 Adams street.

The bride will be graduated next June from Nebraska Wesleyan university where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. Mr. Benedict will be graduated in June from the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Theta Epsilon and Alpha Kappa Psi.

Introducing—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hinds

Everyone loves croquet during the pleasant evenings, and apparently Lincoln's newest residents from Topeka, via Knoxville, Tenn., are no exception. The Hinds, who in their two years of marriage have lived in Knoxville, Atlanta and Nashville, are here for a long while. Mr. Hinds superintends his construction company, on the air base project. At first it was fun to hop around the countryside on different assignments, but now the thrill is wearing thin and they long to settle down and remove their newly-wed furniture from storage down south, where it has been for eighteen months.

This traveling is nothing different for attractive Mrs. Hinds, for her father is also in construction and his work took the family from as far as Bogota, Colombia; South America (Mrs. Hinds' birthplace) out to Portland, Ore., and back through the south. She hopes to fly back for a visit home, where her parents live in Knoxville this weekend. An art major, at the Universities of Georgia and Tennessee, Mrs. Hinds pledged Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She loves novels, gardening, and their terrier, Buttons!

Perhaps when or if Mr. Hinds can find a few moments away from work, he will get his wife interested in the consumptive game of golf! They will be seen at the football games this year, and in addition to that, are enthusiastic about most sports... especially skiing, an unfortunate habit Mrs. Hinds picked up in Oregon and the mountainous west coast. (Unfortunately, because their driveway at 4830 Spruce Street is short and she is not likely to find much opportunity for that pastime!) Mr. Hinds' pet peeve now is the Naval reserve, for he fears reactivation and they will have to move again.

Also an alumni of the University of Tennessee, Mr. Hinds followed in his father-in-law's footsteps to the Sigma Chi house. While he is working this fall, he plans to enroll his wife in driving school, so that she can get around readily. . . a considerate gesture, when most men feel that such action is synonymous with signing their own death certificate!

The Hinds are not exactly strangers to Nebraska, for Mrs. Hinds' mother was born in Rosalie and they have cousins scattered over the state. This young couple actually enjoys travel, in spite of all they have done, and would like once again to make a trek to the south-west and the west. But meanwhile, they love Lincoln and hope to reside here.

Needless Heartbreak

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

One fourteen-year-old I know ate herself into a figure that could only be clothed in the stylish-cut section. When her class dance came along, she had to cut it—no suitable dress could be found and none of the boys were big enough to wait her around. This is a heartbreak no mother should permit her daughter to suffer.

The Teen Figure
The time to start salvaging a girl's figure—and her future happiness—is the moment she starts collecting excess pounds. Enlist the aid of the family physician. Send for our booklet containing 36 menus that are adjusted to the needs of the entire family. Just write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, requesting "Your Beauty Diet" and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope plus 10 cents in coin.

If you use the following one-day menu plan as a guide to the pre-teen girl's daily needs, no problem will develop. It's planned to give the growing girl every needed nutrient and to keep an excessive hunger from developing:

Breakfast: 1 serving of citrus fruit or 6 oz. of orange, grapefruit or tomato juice; 2 slices of whole grain toast, lightly buttered; 1 poached or boiled egg or 1 cup whole grain cereal with milk and 1/2 tablespoon honey and 8 oz. milk. Occasionally, add 2 strips of bacon.

Box lunch: 1 cup soup; 1 or 2 sandwiches of meat, cheese, fish, tomato or egg on dark bread; fresh fruit; 2 cookies; 8 oz. milk. As an alternate substitute fruit or vegetable salad, 1 slice butter dark bread and 1/2 cup jello or custard.

Dinner: A generous serving of lean meat, fish, fowl or liver; 1/2 cup leafy vegetable or salad; an average serving of potato; 1/2 cup of some other vegetable; slice of dark bread lightly buttered; 1/2 cup stewed fruit, pudding or ice cream and 8 oz. milk.

Teen Insurance
This same menu plan, which permits endless variety, will help trim down the overweight teen, too. Basically it's a matter of halving the intake of bread, cutting potatoes to once a week, reducing the consumption of all starches, candy, sweet desserts, nuts, creamed soups, fried foods, carbonated beverages, water with meals and between-meals snacks, to satisfy any voracious mid-afternoon appetite, keep fruit and raw vegetables handy.

Pre-Nuptial Courtesy

Honoring Miss Marian Ekblad and her fiancé, Merritt Cushing, whose marriage will be solemnized at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the First Lutheran church, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cleveland entertained at an informal buffet supper Friday evening at their home. The affair was held following the 7:30 o'clock wedding rehearsal at the church, and the guest list included the members of the immediate families and the bridal party.

B. AND P. W. GROUPS MEET

The membership committee of the Lincoln Business and Professional Women's club met Thursday at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Froma Reiss, to plan activities for the coming year. The group also discussed plans for the observation of National Business Women's Week. The executive committee of the club held its regular meeting Friday evening at the home of Miss Helen M. Scott.

Entries must be in place by 11 o'clock Saturday morning and the public will be admitted promptly at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Containers will be provided for all class A entries, and all exhibits will be released at 9 o'clock Saturday evening, at the close of the show.

The Gardeners' club, a recently-organized group, is interested in promoting better home gardens and park improvements in the University Place area. The members are currently working to landscape the Forty-eighth street entrance of the University Place park.

AXIS B. and P. W. Picnic Supper

The Axis Business and Professional Women's Club met for a picnic supper Tuesday evening at Antelope Park, and adopted the international federation's resolution to sponsor legislation furthering "equal pay for equal work" for women.

Miss Eula Ree Merwin, president, conducted the meeting, and guests for the evening were Miss Virginia Logan of the University of Nebraska, Miss Margaret Motley, exchange teacher from Manchester, England, Mrs. Maude Bennett of Sun Valley, Calif., Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Maude Bryant, and Mrs. Darlene Milner of Kearney.

Mrs. Pearl Abbott assisted by Miss Anna Wurm, Miss Frances Fickes, Miss Irma Brauer and Miss Eunice Willis were in charge of arrangements for the evening.

Family Reunion

Last Sunday several Lincoln families drove to Frankfort, Kan., to attend the annual Olson-Nelson family reunion. Among the eighty relatives attending the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. John Olson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ekblad and their daughters, Lillian and Dorothy; Miss Hilda Olson, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cleveland and family, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Olson, all of Lincoln. Mr. Ekblad is president of the reunion organization.

Shelton Farm Couple Found Asphyxiated

A Clogged Chimney Gets Blame

SHELTON, Neb. (AP)—Carbon monoxide poisoning Friday was blamed for the deaths of an aged farm couple in their home here.

Donna Boyce, 18, who came to the house to help with the work found the bodies of E. E. Graham and his wife, 82.

Buffalo County Attorney Robert L. Hains said the deaths were accidental. A chimney became clogged, he said, while the house was closed. He placed the time of death at sometime Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Boyce usually came to the house daily but had been out of town since Monday.

Traffic Safety Activity Rating In State Drops

Nebraska dropped from 25th to 35th place in 1951 among 47 states whose traffic safety activities were compared by the National Safety Council, State Engineer Harold L. Aitken reported. The state ranked 25th in 1950.

The Department of Roads and Irrigation executive said that the rating by the national group was based upon comparisons in 10 different fields. Each state's traffic death and injury record was the factor given the most weight. In this category, the council rated Nebraska 25th in 1951, compared to a tie for 13th in 1950. The safety organization estimated that $32,395,000 was the economic loss due to traffic accidents in Nebraska in 1951. The report of the council noted that not only did the number of fatalities increase in 1951 over 1950 but also the death rate per mile of travel increased.

Aitken pointed out that there have been nine more traffic deaths in Nebraska so far in 1952 than at this period in 1951.

Record Record Rates High

The Accident Record Bureau of the Department of Roads and Irrigation was responsible for the state's highest rank among the 10 categories. The bureau rated fifth best in the nation for keeping and compiling such records.

The lowest grade that Nebraska received was in the field of traffic legislation, in which the state rated 44th. The report recommended that the legislature re-vamp Nebraska's traffic laws to bring them in line with uniform standards advocated by many national highway and safety organizations.

The council rated Nebraska's Safety Patrol 11th among the states in traffic law enforcement but estimated that from 38 to 93 additional officers were needed to do a thorough job of law enforcement.

The report ranked the Traffic Engineering Section of the highway department 23rd in the nation, recommending that traffic engineers be given more authority and additional personnel.

Under the heading of driver licensing, the council considered both examination of license applicants and control of drivers with poor records. Nebraska ranked 35th in the nation, according to the report, largely because judicial agencies have been lax in placing accident-prone drivers on probation or in suspending or revoking their licenses.

ELLIS, Neb.—Oil drilling rigs are moving into the vicinity of Ellis in preparation for drilling which will probably begin Monday.

The Claude Bartlett farm, located a mile east of Ellis will be the scene of the first drilling attempt. The W and M Oil Company of Lincoln will conduct the oil tests which followed an extensive leasing program by the company in that area.

The company in recent months has secured oil leases on a total of nearly 7,000 acres of land near Ellis. According to J. K. Walker of Lincoln, president of the company, the drilling tests will probably require two weeks to complete.

Second Attempt According to Walker the scene of the tests is believed to be near the center of a good oil-producing underground basin. In 1941 an unsuccessful oil well was drilled near the Bartlett farm but was capped later.

Walker said that records of the drilling in that area show that traces of oil have been found at two different levels. No attempt has been made since 1941, however, to sink another well.

The company has drawn up oil leases on the surrounding farmland to cover a five-year period. The leases pay one dollar the first year, and 50 cents per acre for each of the next four years.

The landowner will receive one-eighth of the proceeds of any oil well which "comes in" on his land, under terms of the lease.

Aluminum Slash Is Ordered For North Bend Firm

OMAHA (AP)—The government has ordered a cut in the aluminum allotments to the Chery Watson Lumber Co., of North Bend, Neb., as a result of alleged over-purchase of aluminum.

Moreau signed an order cutting the allotments by 9,000 pounds during the current quarter and by 6,000 pounds in the last quarter of this year. He also ordered the firm to improve its record keeping.

After a public hearing, Moreau found that between Oct. 1, 1951, and March 21, 1952, the North Bend firm acquired 9,166 more pounds of aluminum than it was entitled to and had ordered 5,662 pounds too many during the first quarter of 1952.

Youths Ready To Continue Raising Beef

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

It's a pretty safe bet that the numbers of baby beef raised by Nebraska 4-H boys and girls will continue to increase.

Not even a rather dubious market situation has dimmed the ambitions of the 4-Hers to re-invest in more cattle next year. After the auction of the baby beefs at the closing day of the State Fair Friday nearly every member contacted by The Star was all for taking another chance at a good profit next year.

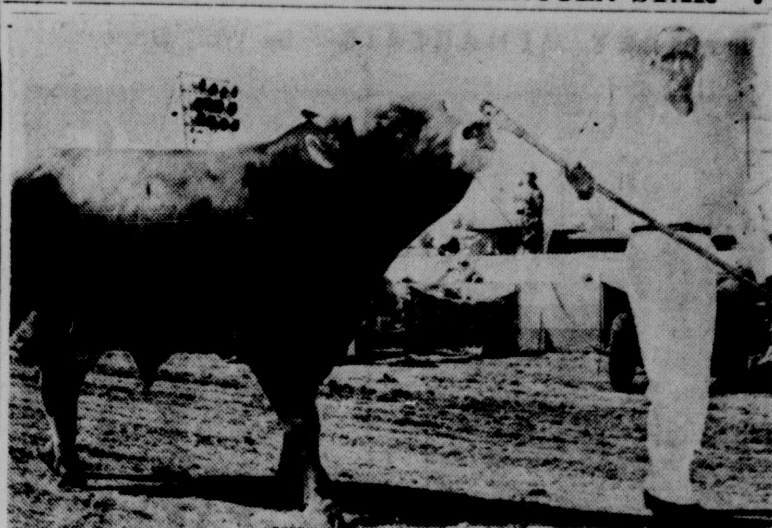

A typical comment came from Gerry Krieser of Waverly just after he had led his Hereford from the sale ring. "I'm not sure just how well I came out on my calf this year, but I'm going to buy more with the money to raise next year," he said.

Unsure Of Profit Gerry's Hereford, close to the 1,000 pound class, sold for 34 cents per pound. He explained that he is unsure of his profit on his calf because of the high feed prices this year and the high purchase price of the calf.

Francis Niebuhr of Hallam will use the proceeds from his Hereford, which sold for 34.5 cents, to buy some machinery and start farming in earnest next year. Too old at 21 for any more 4-H work, Francis says some of the money from his calf may go to purchase more feeders for the open market next year. He also sold an Angus for 35 cents at the auction.

Billy Hatcher of Route 8, Lincoln, thinks he came out all right in the sale with the 34 cents paid for each of the 1,000 pounds in his Hereford. He also plans to re-invest in more 4-H calves next year. George Stoppkott of Grand Island, a beef club leader, said most of his members are going to use the proceeds from this year's sale to buy more club calves for next year.

Accident-Studded Stock Car Grind Won By Shorty Perlick

SOME 20,000 race fans, largest crowd ever to witness a stock car race at the Nebraska State Fair, saw Don (Shorty) Perlick of Minneapolis blast his 1950 Oldsmobile to victory in the 125-lap grind here Friday afternoon.

Perlick, who took over the lead in the IMCA stock circuit season standings by virtue of his victory, started in third place and after one lap never ran worse than second.

Ernie Derr of Fort Madison, Ia., who captured the pole position in the time trials, set a blistering pace in his 1952 Olds until the 100th lap when he blew a right rear tire while rounding the east turn.

Derr manhandled the car back under control, got new rubber and was back in the race four laps later, but another flat 10 laps later nullified any hopes of his getting back among the leaders.

Ferrier Leads Empire Meet

ALBANY, N. Y. (INS) — Big Jim Ferrier shot a three-under-par 67 Friday to take a three-stroke lead at the halfway point of the Empire State Open golf tournament.

Ferrier's round, coupled with a course-record 63 Thursday, gave him a 36-hole total of 130. Sam Snead, who had a second-round 66, took over second place with a 133 card. Dave Douglas was third with 134.

Dick De Maine, young Port Chester, N. Y., pro sunk a hole in one on the 167-yard ninth hole. He finished with a 65 and a 140 total.

Irish Stress Blocking

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame Friday stressed offensive blocking as he sent his football candidates to work out.

Quarterbacks Tom Carey and Ralph Guglielmi engaged in a passing drill with Art Hunter, last year's center who has been converted to an end.

Ex-Omaha Hurler Pitches No-Hitter

OTTAWA (INS) — St. Louis Cardinal Farmhand Jackie Colburn, formerly with the Omaha Cards, pitched the second no-run, no-hit game of the International League season Friday night as Rochester defeated Ottawa, 9 to 0, in the second game of a double-header.

Accident-Studded Stock Car Grind Won By Shorty Perlick

SOME 20,000 race fans, largest crowd ever to witness a stock car race at the Nebraska State Fair, saw Don (Shorty) Perlick of Minneapolis blast his 1950 Oldsmobile to victory in the 125-lap grind here Friday afternoon.

Perlick, who took over the lead in the IMCA stock circuit season standings by virtue of his victory, started in third place and after one lap never ran worse than second.

Ernie Derr of Fort Madison, Ia., who captured the pole position in the time trials, set a blistering pace in his 1952 Olds until the 100th lap when he blew a right rear tire while rounding the east turn.

Derr manhandled the car back under control, got new rubber and was back in the race four laps later, but another flat 10 laps later nullified any hopes of his getting back among the leaders.

Perlick, in contrast, drove the entire race without a mishap or a pit stop. He collected $500 for his afternoon's effort. Second place went to Chas. Larson of Aurora, Ill., in a '51 Olds and Chris Skandal of Des Moines placed third, also driving a '51 Olds.

Tough luck driver of the afternoon was Marv Copple of Lincoln. Starting fifth, he had bullied his way into third place behind Derr and Perlick by the 20th lap, when he lost valuable time in an altercation with the inside rail on the west turn.

Back in the race, Copple was again riding in third spot by the half-way mark. But on the 85th lap a blown tire sent his '51 Olds careening into the fence as he came out of the east turn.

A series of minor accidents put four cars out of the race and kept the event under the yellow flag for more than 30 laps, destroying any hope of setting a record. Perlick's time was 1:37:45.50.

The other money winners in order of their finish: 4th — Bob Dugan, Tampa, Fla., '49 Plymouth; 5th — Harold Hobbs, Grinnell, Ia., '50 Ford; 6th — Bob Parker, Omaha, Neb., '49 Plymouth; 7th — Matt Perlick, Minneapolis, Minn., '50 Olds; 8th — Ernie Derr, Fort Madison, Ia., '52 Olds; 9th — Tubby Harrison, Topeka, Kan., '49 Plymouth; 10th — Marv Copple, Lincoln, Neb., '51 Olds; 11th — Tilman Huset, Brandon, S.D., '50 Plymouth; 12th — Mickey McCormick, Hutchinson, Kas., '48 Ford.

Casey Berates Yankee Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — Casey Stengel berated the riot act to his players Friday for the first time in his four-year tenure as manager of the New York Yankees.

Stengel faced the players a tongue-lashing in a railroad dining car enroute here after dropping a 3-2 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics.

The players were eating and playing a quiz game they have labeled "20 Questions" when Casey called for silence.

"If you want to play any quiz games, I've got a game for you. Each one of you asks himself 'who am I? What did I do to earn my salary today?'"

Stengel declared: "This is no laughing matter. You can't depend on the Browns, the White Sox or some other club to win the pennant for you. A game like today's is going to cost each man $6,000. Cut out the nonsense and start thinking seriously about baseball."
